Call for External Peer Reviewers

The quality of an academic journal depends on the quality of peer reviewers from the larger community of scholars and experts in an issue area. The Editors of Perspectives on Terrorism are looking to expand its pool of peer reviewers for articles submitted to our journal. Academics and professionals with a track record of well-received publications in recognized journals willing to participate in a rigorous but fair peer review process, should send their CV (or a brief biographic summary) and publication list, along with contact information and a short list of 1 - 3 topics of particular subject matter expertise to: james\_forest@uml.edu.
